News from the Hawaiian Isles.

We have files of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser to the 18th of December, from which we copy the following:

There are two newspapers published in the Hawaiian Isles in the Kanaka tongue. One of these is a religious journal called the Hoku Pakipika; the other is strictly a newspaper and is called Kuokoa.

The Advertiser and Polynesian contain lengthy communications, all about quarrels between churchmen. The ecclesiastical elements in the Islands appear to be in a state of contrariness, and frequent newspaper rows occur in consequence. These are more discreditable to the parties than instructive to the readers.

Dispatches dated Washington, Dec. 3d, were delivered from the clipper ship Cyclone in passing Honlulu, at 8 A. M., on the 16th, making the through time only twelve days and twenty hours—the shortest on record. Among the important news received was the President's Message, which was read and printed in full in Honolulu 14 days after its delivery in Washington.

The nineteenth year of the independent national existence of the Hawaiian Kingdom was celebrated with great pomp at Honolulu, on the 28th of November. This is the anniversary of the day on which the British and French recognized the nationality of the Hawaiians, and signed, at London, a treaty guaranteeing their non-interference in the affairs of the Kingdom; and also that they would never occupy any of its territories under any pretext or for any purpose whatever.

The decline in the arrival of ships from the North Pacific Whaling Fleet, at Honolulu, in ten years, and the average catch of oil and bone, may be thus stated: In 1852, 275 ships arrived, with 337,124 barrels of oil and 5,357,737 pounds of bone; in 1862, 34 ships, with 30,000 barrels of oil and 387,500 pounds of bone. It is anticipated that the whaling fleet will give up the Islands as a wintering place, altogether.

The cultivation of sugar, is attracting, more and more, the attention of capitalists. Some lands susceptible of cultivation in sugar, have sold as high as $75 an acre, and the price was considered moderate. Some of the finer wools grown on the Islands have brought 62 cents in Boston. The stock of sheep is being largely increased by importations.

SAVE THE RAGS.—There are many families which could easily make money enough by saving their cotton and linen waste to pay the subscription of at least one newspaper. Cotton and linen rags have advanced to 16 cents a pound in the East, and will probably command nearly that price in San Francisco and here, possibly more. White cotton and linen should be kept separate from colored, and all should be washed and laid by until arrangements can be made to get the San Francisco manufacturers to send an agent to effect purchases here, if none of our business houses will take it in hand, to purchase for the mills below. There are two establishments in California; that of S. P. Taylor, in the neighborhood of San Francisco, and the San Lorenzo Paper Mills, in Alameda county. The latter, it is thought, can make enough paper to supply the entire demand on the Pacific Coast. It is also rumored that parties purpose to establish the manufacture of paper in this vicinity. We earnestly wish for the success of this enterprise, and will count it a proud day for Oregon when she prints her newspapers on home-made paper. In this connection we would state the trade of chiffonier, or rag-picker, is not a very pleasant one, but it is infinitely more honorable than the practices by which many persons manage to live, besides it is very lucrative.

POSTAL.—A. L. Downer has been commissioned postmaster at Lewiston, Nez Perces county, W. T. Stephen W. Hovey has been appointed postmaster at Teekalet, W. T. L. Heuslaw, at Coppea, Walla Walla county, W. T., and Joseph H. Savery, at Salt Creek, Polk county, Oregon.

FRIDAY MORNING, JAN 2 186

Death of a Chief—Looking glass once a war-chief of the Nez Perces is dead. He belonged to that element of his tribe which is called the "Buffalo Indians," or was one of those that made a practice of going over into the Crow country to hunt the bison, and to fight any obstreperous Crow, Gros Ventres or Dacotah, that did not like to have them over among their bovine game. During Colonel Wright's Spokane campaign, Looking glass was suspected of being a friend to Kamakin, and when a great council of the Nez Perces was held at the close of the war, he did not appear at the first meeting of it. For this contemptuous conduct towards the whites, his name was stricken from the roll of Nez Perces chiefs. "Where is Looking glass?" said Col Wright, after the council had assembled. Being told that he was absent, he said to the Indians, "Looking glass is no longer a chief of the Nez Perces." This stroke broke his heart. The old man begged to be re-instated, but it was never done. His rival Lawyer, was recognized as head man of the Nez Perces. This Lawyer is an unmitigated old humbug, whose only redeeming quality is his amiability. He and Looking glass were reconciled a short time since, and the humbled war-chief died in the house of the cunning aboriginal politician, fitly named Lawyer.—His death took place on the 6th of January.

Arrest of Boone Helm—The man named Boone Helm, whose arrest at Olympia for disorderly conduct was noticed in yesterday's Oregonian, has been committed to jail on the charge of killing "Dutch Fred" at Florence City, in March last. The killing of this man was a most atrocious murder. "Dutch Fred" was unarmed at the time, and was fired at twice, the second shot killing him instantly. There had been a quarrel between him and Helm, and both had been disarmed, but Helm's weapons were given back to him on a promise that he would go home and be peaceable. His first use of his revolver was to commit this crime. He then went home to his cabin, and fled before any legal proceedings could be taken against him. He went to Cariboo, and shot a man there, who, it is reported, died of his wound. He next turns up at Victoria, where he is very disorderly, and finally at Olympia, where he will be retained until he can be taken to Florence for trial. This man Helm is the same who, in 1858, attempted to make the trip from Dalles to Salt Lake, in company with several other men, all of whom perished. It is said that Helm, the only survivor, had something to do with their death, as there was a considerable sum of money among the members of the party. He is distinctly accused of cannibalism, in eating their dead bodies.

Patriotism at Vancouver.—Some days since, a gentleman of this city went over to Vancouver on business. While there, a man with whom he had no acquaintance or friendship whatever, took a considerable quantity of greenbacks at par. As Corporal Mulrooney said, "That was cliver" for one who was under no obligation to do such a thing; but truth compels us to add that the same patriotic individual took the gentleman's watch and seal at the same time.

Sensible.—The Marysville Appeal says that Gen. Jackson did many things for the nation, for which he will be forever held in honor; but neglected to hang certain traitors in the nullification times, for which he could never forgive himself. It may be added that, he should never have died, but been laid up in ordinary until just such times as the present, when he could have made himself particularly useful. It is a misfortune that attaches to humanity that the men who are almost necessary to the maintenance of law and order must die like other men. We say of Jackson, as it was said of Titus, "Pity it is that such a man should ever die."

Masonic.—The following named gentlemen have been duly elected and installed officers, on the 27th ultimo, of Laurel Lodge of F & A. Masons, at Roseburg, Douglas county, in this State:—S F Chadwick, W M; John Lehnbarr, S W; George Ross, J W; A Jones, S D; D Bushey, J D; A Rose, Treasurer; C McCloud, Secretary; P Burns, Tyler.

Indian Robberies.—The Indians on Butte creek, in Jackson county, are stealing from the settlers. The Coast Agency has been supplying these savages with half rations but cut them off in consequence of some petty depredation on their part, so they steal the more in consequence of it.

The Japanese Government opposes the work of the American missionaries. The work is, for the time, abandoned.

Corn husks are said to be excellent paper stock, and a good article can be manufactured from them.

The erysipelas is raging at Jacksonville in Oregon. No fatal cases yet.

Olympia Correspondence

[illegible]

An act authorizing the construction of a Territorial road from Oakland in Sawamish county to Seabeck in Kitsap county.

An act authorizing Joseph Cushman and associates to construct a telegraph line from Vancouver, in Clarke county, via Monticello and Olympia to the Northern boundary of the Territory.

The following Council bills, which are simply the old laws now in force, as reported by the code committee, were severally read three times and passed:

An act relative to constables.

An act relative to commissioners of deeds.

An act relative to deeds and conveyances.

C B No 80—An act to apportion the representation of Washington Territory, was read a second time and referred to the committee on Elections, with instructions to report to-morrow. A motion to take up the bill for the removal of the seat of government to Vancouver, was lost. Both these bills will doubtless come up for action to-morrow. It is a matter of uncertainty whether either will pass. If the latter passes in any shape, it will be by amendment, striking out Vancouver and inserting Walla Walla. The revenue bill came up to-day, but no action had upon it, save making it the special order again for to-morrow, at 10½ o'clock.

Quite a large amount of business was transacted in the Council to-day, but I have not the data with me to give full particulars. Several important bills were passed, among which was the criminal practice act.

ORPHEUS

More Frauds.—The Mountaineer charges that Superintendent Rector was guilty of fraud in the expenditure of the sum of $10,00 to construct a wagon road from the Umatilla to the Grand Ronde valley, across the Blue mountains. In the summer of 1861, Mr Rector, it is alleged made an arrangement with a gentleman to superintend the building of the road, by day labor. Mr Geary, the predecessor of Mr Rector, advertised for proposals to build this road, during his term of office, but the project of building it by contract was abandoned and the other plan adopted. It is asserted that the person who was employed to superintend the work, was required to employ Mr Rector's son at a large salary. The sum of $4,700 was expended during the year 1861 and in 1862 Mr. Rector's son was given the contract for the completion of the work and no competition was invited. The $5,300 was exhausted by the employment of ten men for twenty days, and the road was declared completed! This little affair involved a loss of over $4,000 to the Government, and produced a great inconvenience to the people for whose benefit the road was designed. It is further asserted in the matter of the Fort Simcoe Indian transportation contracts that Mr. Geary had advertised for bids, which were made. Messrs Humason and Gates, of the Dalles, agreed to transport the goods for $45 a ton. Mr Rector succeeding to office, annulled this contract and gave the work to another person for $60 a ton, thus producing a loss of $15 on every ton of freight carried which the United States had to pay. These are serious charges, which appear to be made on good authority, or what is deemed such, and demand investigation. The road matter particularly, has proven a great loss to the community, as the road is the one which would be most used to get to the Baker county mines, if it were completed.

Kentucky.—The Governor of Kentucky, in his annual message, protests against the President's proclamation. He says it will fire the rebels with inexhaustible hate and forever destroy the hope of restoring the Union, which can only be done by adhering to the Constitution as it was. The plea of military necessity he denounces as a specious excuse to usurp unwarranted power.

The Curtin quartz lead near Jacksonville is proven to be rich.

(SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.)

LATER FROM THE EAST.

Dates to January 14th.

New York, Jan 14th—A special dispatch says letters from Illinois state that the rebels are liberal in their offers to the West of the navigation of the Mississippi, free trade and freedom from taxation, if she will join the South. Members of Congress west of the Wabash river declare that the ship canal between the great lakes and the Mississippi is a political necessity. They insist there is a deep and wide scheme to detach the North and West from the Union, and it may succeed unless provision is made for getting grain from the valley to the seaboard at rates of transportation which will not eat up the value.

Washington, Jan 14th—Nothing of interest from the army of the Potomac.

Portland (Me) Jan 14th—Mr Morrill was elected United States Senator yesterday.

Nashville, Jan 14th—Two transports with commissary stores were destroyed by the rebel Gen Wheeler between here and Clarksville.

Washington, Jan 14th—Richmond papers contain the following:

Petersburg, Jan 12th—Gen Pryor encountered Dodge's mounted riflemen near Suffolk. He routed them, inflicting considerable loss. Learning that 800 Yankees were at Collinsville, he pursued across the country to intercept them, but they fled at his approach.

The Richmond Whig says the Murfreesboro prisoners were to be sent to Richmond. The Yankee Government refusing to receive them unless the officers were given up also. Of the latter some 200 will be held in confinement according to President Davis' proclamation until Gen Butler shall be delivered up for punishment. Gen Tuttle received orders from Washington not to send any rebel officers South for exchange.

Boston, Jan 14th—The public received and welcomed the California company.

Indianapolis, Jan 14th—T A Hendricks was elected United States Senator for the long term.

Cairo, Jan 14th—Holly Springs has been evacuated and almost wholly burned.

Murfreesboro, Jan 10th—The following order has been issued by Gen Rosekrans:

The General Commanding is pained to inform the commissioned officers of the Confederate army taken prisoners, that owing to the barbarous measures announced by President Davis in a recent proclamation, denying parole to our officers, he will be obliged to treat them in like manner. It is a matter of regret to him that this rigor appears necessary, and he trusts such remonstrance as may be made in the name of justice, humanity and civilization may reach the Confederate authorities as to induce them to pursue a different course, and thereby enable him to accord to their officers the privileges which he is always pleased to extend to brave men, even though fighting for a cause which he considers hostile to the nation and disastrous to human freedom.

Cairo, January 11th—Captain Moore in command of one hundred men, attacked a camp of three hundred rebels, at Huntington's Mills, 34 miles east of Fort Pillow, on the morning of the 8th. The rebels were completely surprised; sixteen of them were killed and forty six taken prisoners. Fifty horses and a lot of small arms were captured. Two Federals were wounded. The expedition was absent from the fort only twenty-seven hours.

New York, January 10th—New Orleans advices report that the rebels have 12,000 men, with 30 guns, at Port Hudson. The earthworks are said to be four miles in extent.

The Capitol at Baton Rouge was destroyed by fire recently, with many thousands of rare and valuable books and papers. Loss, $70,000.

Chicago, Jan 10—The New Orleans Delta of Dec 27th says the rebels at New Orleans have been getting bold within the last few days, cheering for rebel leaders and insulting and browbeating Union men. Such things were openly done on Christmas day, we understand. The rejoicing and hilarity among the rebels were quite equal to their boldness and impudence.

New York, Jan 10—The steamer Varuna, from New Orleans January 2d, has arrived. The news is unimportant. Banks was concentrating his forces at Baton Rouge.

A Nashville dispatch says Lavergne (Tenn) has been accidentally burned, so that the wounded have to be sent to Nashville and thence to Louisville, for treatment.

Washington, Jan 10—The House in Committee of the Whole, yesterday, considered the Executive, Judicial and Legislative Appropriation Bill. Several amendments were made, including a provision making an appropriation for compensation and mileage to members until further legislation—no part of this appropriation to be paid for mileage of Senators and Representatives beyond ten cents per mile each way, the distance to be computed according to existing laws. The bill passed.

The Consular and Diplomatic Appropriation Bill was then taken up and passed.

Sacramento, Jan 15th—The Republican caucus commenced at 7 o'clock last night. The ninth ballot being taken stood for Phelps, 49; Conness, 11; Shafter 1. The tenth ballot same result. Adjourned to meet at 7 o'clock Thursday evening.

San Francisco, Jan 15—D W C Thompson has been appointed Major, and authorized to raise a company of light cavalry in this State for Massachusetts. A number of our merchants have organized a gunboat company for the construction of a gunboat on the plan of Warren & Miller, Marysville.

Sacramento, Jan 15th—The caucus met at 7 o'clock this evening. The 10th ballot stood: Phelps, 37; Sargent, 33; Conness, 24; Brown, 1; Shatter, 2; Shafter stock has increased 100 per cent. The ballots up to the 28th were the same, after which they adjourned till Friday afternoon.

Sacramento, Jan 16th—The Red Bluff and Honey Lake Wagon Road bill has passed both Houses.

Red Bluff, Jan 16th—One hundred guns will be fired to-night, in honor of the passage of the Red Bluff and Honey Lake Wagon Road bill.

Legal Tender Notes this Day---80 cents

A New Way to Collect Old Debts.—A gentleman who lives within a thousand miles of the flag staff on the city plaza lent a small sum of money to a person who was somewhat dilatory in paying up. At length he told his debtor that he would make him come out with the money anyhow before a certain day. At the day named the debtor was seated in a restaurant eating his dinner and the indignant creditor was standing at the door of the house to keep out of the rain. About this time a man came along with a revolver and offered to sell it. The creditor standing at the door, was examining it when the debtor having finished his dinner came out and saw the creditor with the pistol in his hand. His first idea, of course, was that the gentleman had come to collect that little debt, so he knocked out, "Don't shoot! Don't shoot! I'll make that little debt all right!" The stupefaction of the creditor may be imagined, on hearing this supplication and promise. It is said that it was at once a fine exhibition of awakened conscientiousness and presence of mind. We call this a new way to collect old debts.

Humane Amusement.—An interesting and animated dog fight came off on the O. S. N. Co.'s wharf, yesterday afternoon. Two noble brutes nearly killed each other for the edification of a crowd of philanthropists, who were immensely tickled by a fight in which none of them were getting hurt. The arrival of officer Brannan, at the close of the row, was too late to detect any of the parties participating in the affair, but not too late to arrest some persons, who were examined and discharged. In future, parties who wish to indulge in the refined practice of dog fighting had better seek some place out of town, or it may be worse for them.

Protection No. 4.—Since the city has appropriated money enough to buy No. 4 an engine, hose carriage, hose, &c., we understand the company will go into active service with the old machine of the Willamettes. It is a good machine, but is said to run rather heavy. Anyhow, Protection's boys have now a chance to show their blood.

Money Matters.—At its last meeting the City Council appropriated for all purposes $409.80, which is a good evening's work. The demands on the City Treasury are unusual, and for purposes of utility, in fact, are absolutely necessary.

Recruiting Office.—John F. Noble Esq., has opened his recruiting office for the Oregon Cavalry, in Kingsley's building, next to the [illegible] of the People's Transportation Company. The Stars and Stripes are hanging on the [illegible] wall, inviting a rush of patriotic volunteer fighters to enlist.

Mexican Bravery.—The fact admits of indisputable proof. No better fighting has been done on the other continent for the last generation than in the last Italian war. It compared the bloodshed of the five principal battles of that war with that of the five principal battles of the Mexican war.

The sum total of killed and wounded, on the part of the French and Sardinians, was 20,450 out of 244,000 engaged, or a little over eight per cent. The sum total of the Austrian losses of killed and wounded, in these five battles, was 38,650 out of 305,000, or about ten and a half per cent.

Now let us turn to our battles in Mexico. In the five principal battles there was a sum total of 28,337 Americans engaged, and 3,861 killed and wounded, which is fifteen per cent.

The Mexican losses, in some of the battles above mentioned, though known to be very heavy, have never been definitely stated.—Estimating by all obtainable data, we should certainly be within the truth in saying that in the principal Mexican battles their average loss in killed and wounded, of the number engaged, was eleven per cent.

[illegible] Hand, of the Oregon Cavalry, has commenced recruiting at Jacksonville.

A Advice to Consumptives.—Dr. [illegible]'s BALSAM is a sure remedy for all the various stages of CONSUMPTION, such as a Hacking Cough, Pain in the Breast, Spitting of Blood, Night Sweats, &c., having the highest testimonials ever given in any expectorant medicine in the world.

[illegible]—The Fire-Proof Stone Warehouse, opposite the [illegible] House, is the only building, not made of wood at the Dalles, where goods are taken on STORAGE. All [illegible] that take goods on storage are wooden buildings and in exposed parts of the town liable to the risk of fire. The subscriber assures his patrons that his charges are but $1.50 per ton per month, [illegible] although storage in wooden buildings is $1.00 per ton, yet the public [illegible] fail to perceive the advantages the subscriber [illegible] over other warehouses of this place.

Dalles, Jan 20, 1863. 3m — HASFY [illegible]

Coughs.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of Pulmonary, Bronchial and Asthmatic Affections. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to Brown's Bronchial Troches or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. Public Speakers and Singers will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. See advertisement.

White's Fever and Agu Drops. For the cure of AGUE, PANAMA FEVER, NEURALGIA and GENERAL DEBILITY.

This medicine has been used in private practice for many years with great success. Indeed, in no instance has it failed to effect a speedy cure, in Ague especially one bottle having been found sufficient in most cases and in none are more than two bottles required.

A great number of testimonials could be given to verify these [illegible], but the proprietor prefers relying upon the merits of the medicine alone. A cure is guaranteed in nine cases out of ten.

Prepared only by ROBERT WHITE, Chemist and Druggist, Main street, Placerville, and Broadway, Upper Placerville. For sale by all respectable Druggists throughout the State.

A SKETCH FROM [illegible]

Midnight was past and the lights [illegible] the vessels lying at anchor in the stream were beginning to be extinguished when two men hurried from different directions toward the shore. The elder of the two had barely reached the strand and was preparing to make a leap, the design [illegible] be mistaken, but at that instant the younger seized him by the arm [illegible]

"Sir, I believe you [illegible] yourself!"

"You have [illegible] What [illegible]"

This was [illegible] in the most angry tone.

"Nothing [illegible] you to wait a couple of minutes—[illegible] like, we will make the great journey together. Arm in arm—the best way of dying."

With these words the younger extended his hand to the elder, which was not withheld. The former continued in a tone of seeming enthusiasm:

"So be it! Arm in arm! Truly I did not dream that a human heart would beat with mine in this last hour. I will not seek to know who you are—an honest man or a villain—come let us begin the journey together!"

The elder held the young man back, and fixing his dim, half extinguished eyes searchingly upon the countenance of his companion, exclaimed:

"Hold! You seem to me too young to end your life by suicide. A man of your years has still a brilliant, alluring future in his grasp."

"Brilliant!" answered the young man scornfully. "What have I to hope in the midst of a world full of wickedness, falsehood, treachery and unhappiness? Come, quick!"

"You are still young! You must have had very sorrowful experiences to make life already thus insupportable to you!"

"I despise mankind!"

"Without exception?"

"Without exception."

"Well, then, you have now perhaps found a man whom you will not necessarily despise. I have, believe me, during my whole life lived an honorable man."

"Really? That is highly interesting! It is a pity I had not earlier made your acquaintance!"

"Leave me to die alone, young man. Live on! Believe me, time heals all wounds, and there are men of honor yet to be found."

"Now, if you take this view, why are you hurrying so fast to say 'Vale' to the world?"

"Oh, I am an old, sickly man, unable to make a livelihood; a man who cannot, will not, longer see his only child, his daughter, blighting her youth, and laboring day and night to support him. No, I would be an unfeeling father, I would be barbarous if I lived on thus!"

"How sir, you have a daughter who does this for you?" asked the young man surprised.

"And with what endurance, with what love does she sacrifice herself for me! She works for me, she goes hungry for me, and has only the tenderest words of love—a sweet smile for me always!"

"And you want to commit suicide? Are you mad?"

"Shall I murder my daughter? The life which she is now leading is her certain death," answered the old man in a despairing voice.

"Good sir, come, go with me to the nearest inn that is still open, and let us drink a bottle of wine together. You will relate to me your history, and, if you like, I will let you know mine. So much, however, will I say to you beforehand: Chase all thoughts of self-murder out of your head. I am rich and, if things be as you say, from henceforth you and your daughter shall lead a pleasant life."

The old man followed the younger without opposition. A few minutes later, over full glasses, the elder began:

"My history is soon told. I was a merchant's clerk, but always unlucky. As I had nothing by inheritance, and the young girl I married was poor, I was never able to commence business on my own account and remained on to old age in a dependent subordinate position. Finally, I was discharged on account of my years, and then began the struggle for subsistence. My wife died of trouble, and now my poor child wearies to gain my support. I cannot bear to see her working herself to death for me—therefore it is better I go—now you know all!"

"Friend," exclaimed the young man, "you are the most fortunate man I ever encountered in my life. It is insane to call that [illegible]. Nobody is easier to help than you. To-morrow I will make my will, and you shall be—no resistance!—my heir. The coming night is my last. Before this, however, I must see your daughter, out of pure curiosity. I would for once see how one looked who really deserves the name of [illegible]."

"But, young man, what can it be that so early has made you so unhappy?" questioned the elder, much moved.

"I believe it was the wealth which my father left me. I was the only son of the richest banker in this city. My father died five years since, leaving me—more than was good for me. Since that time I have been deceived and betrayed by every one, without exception, with whom I have had any connection. Some have pretended friendship for me on account of my money. Others have pretended to love me—again for my money—and so it went on. I often mingle, in the garb of a simple workman, with the masses, and thus one day became acquainted with a charming being, a young girl to whom my whole being went out in love. I disclosed to her neither my name or my position. I longed to be loved for myself alone, and for a time it appeared as if I was going to be happy—at last! The young girl and I whom she still regarded as a simple workman, met every afternoon in the Marcusplatz where we walked up and down together, passing many happy hours. One day my girl appeared with red eyes—she had been weeping—and told me we must part, confessing that her life belonged to another. With those words she tore herself from me and disappeared in the crowd. Her faithlessness decided my destiny. Vainly did I rush into the pleasures which so called 'good society' had to offer, but found my lost peace of soul, never! never! I then determined to bring my joyless existence to a close."

"Unhappy young man," said the elder, wiping his eyes, "from my whole heart I pity you. I must acknowledge that I was more fortunate than you, for I at least, was, by two women—my wife and daughter—tenderly loved."

"Will you give me your address, good sir, that I may convince myself of the truth of your story? It is not exactly mistrust, but I must see to believe. To-morrow I will arrange my affairs as I have already told you. You will remain in this inn to-night and in the morning early I will return. Give me your word of honor that you will not leave this house until I come back, and that you will not, in the meantime, speak to any one of what has taken place between us."

"You have my word! Go to my dwelling, to my daughter, and you will find that I have told you the simple truth. My name is Wilhelm S[illegible]. Here is my address."

With these words he [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] It was [illegible] [illegible] proper.

And my name is Carl [illegible]," said the young man. "[illegible] this bank [illegible] it will serve [illegible]

[illegible] Hardly had the morning broke when Carl [illegible] the spot where lived the daughter of the old man with whom he had become acquainted under such peculiar circumstances. [illegible] that he [illegible] the house. It was [illegible] place. The young man knocked [illegible] the door and involuntarily stepped back.

What did he see?

The young girl whose inconstancy had made his life a burden unbearable [illegible] before him.

She had grown pale—very pale—but he knew her at the first glance. It was Bertha, whom he had once [illegible] [illegible] his own.

At his appearance the young girl sprang towards him, over [illegible] [illegible] her little hand. The young man [illegible] back, exclaiming:

"You did not expect [illegible]"

The poor girl sank into a seat, and covered her pale, beautiful countenance with her hands.

"Are you Wilhelm S[illegible]'s daughter?" asked the young man coldly, after [illegible]

"I am," answered the maiden timidly.

"And who and where is he [illegible] as you told me at parting your life belonged [illegible]"

"The other is my father," answered the young girl, looking up to the young man with a glance in which spoke the tenderest love.

With lightning the truth dawned upon him; the scales fell from his eyes—suddenly all was clear.

Speechless he reached to Bertha [illegible] to his arms and pressed her to his breast.

"Come to your father," he faltered [illegible] the young girl.

"My father! Oh! I forgot—where is he? He has been out all night. I have watched for him in tears the long night [illegible]"

"Your father is saved! He is with me," was Carl's answer, as he hurried the young girl out and through the streets to the arms of her—of his father.

A fortnight later, in the midst of the greatest splendor, the marriage of the rich young banker Carl [illegible] and Bertha S——— took place.

Proclamation by the Governor

Executive Office, Portland, Ore.,
January [illegible] 1863.

By [illegible] the President of the United States, through Brigadier General George Wright, commanding the Department of the Pacific, and Brigadier General Benjamin Alvord, commanding the District of Oregon, I have been [illegible] additional companies required to complete the 1st Regiment of Cavalry Oregon Volunteers. They will be [illegible] the coming Spring on the frontiers of this State and Washington Territory, and for an expedition against the Snake Indians who have so long been mercilessly engaged in robbing emigrants and murdering our fellow-citizens. I cannot doubt that the citizens of Oregon who have always promptly responded to any demand for their military services will in like manner respond to this call, thereby showing their loyalty to the Government and aiding in chastising marauding bands of Indians which infest our frontiers.

The companies when organized will be supplied with horses by the United States, it being understood that they will be mounted in such manner as shall be deemed advisable by the Government.

Propositions to raise a whole company which will furnish their own horses and horse equipments may be entertained. The men are in such cases entitled to forty cents a day for the use and risk of their horses and horse equipments.

Each company will consist of one hundred enlisted men, and when mustered into the service of the United States to serve for three years, unless sooner discharged.

Recruiting Posts will be immediately opened at Portland, Dalles City, and perhaps at other places. By the Governor,

ADDISON C. GIBBS.

CYRUS A. REED, Adjutant General.
